

One of the most innovative and exciting chefs in the UK today. Lisa leads the Northcote kitchen which has maintained its Michelin star since 1996.

She draws inspiration from the beautiful Ribble Valley landscape to produce creative, stunning dishes which showcase the wide range of incredible produce the region has to offer.

Her impressive culinary skills have landed her regular TV appearances including Great British Menu, being the most successful female chef on the show, Saturday Kitchen and James Martin's Saturday Morning.